

The NHBC is a statutory body that acts as a housing consumer protection body working in partnership with responsible homebuilders to maintain and improve the quality of all newly constructed homes in South Africa.

The NHBC's mission is firstly to protect housing consumers by establishing, implementing and regulating quality standards in the home building industry and secondly, to establish a warranty fund and to provide assistance to housing consumers under circumstances where homebuilders fail to meet their obligations.

Accolade Construction is registered with the NHBC and is, therefore required to build to their prescribed standards, all of which were established to protect the consumer.
